Regeneration 'worth the wait' to have new homes

By Eva Astreinidou

THE long-awaited redevelopment of Blackbird Leys will be 'worth the wait as the search for a developer begins

Plans were approved by Oxford City Council in 2015 and are now set to have a dedicated developer some time next year after it was decided to put the project out to the open market.

Oxford City Council has been awarded £745,000 from the government's Estate Regeneration Fund to support the Blackbird Leys and Barton regeneration plans.

Council representatives confirmed property consultants CBRE will be looking for a development partner in the next couple of months.

A city council representative said on Tuesday that the minimum legal requirement to find a developer will be nine months.

He said: "Due to the policy changes, we had to go back to the drawing board and revise the plans. It was not a delay on our part."

Councillor Linda Smith, who represents the Blackbird Leys ward, said: "Changes to national housing and planning legislation in 2016 caused some slippage because the council was forced to review its planned investment in major capital works

"However the scheme has actually taken a significant step forward with the firm appointment of CBRE to approach the market for a developer partner. This is good news for the community and will deliver much needed new affordable homes and a modern replacement community centre.

"I would ask local residents to look at the house building programme the council has initiated in Barton, the amazing new community centre in Rose Hill, the major refurbishment scheme ongoing on the city's high rise tower blocks—and be assured that a new district centre for Blackbird Leys is next on the agenda and it will be worth the wait."

Many of the Blackbird Leys district centre's buildings were developed in the 1950s and 1960s and are now suffering from significant deterioration.

The retail and community centre are in need of repair and the site offers poor quality public space with 'inefficient' use of land.

The new development is set to provide a mix of shops, around 100 homes and a community centre.

Fiona Piercy, city council's assistant chief executive for regeneration and economy, said: "I'm pleased with the next steps that we will be taking together to get a development partner to help deliver this scheme

"We will be contacting individual residents of the district centre who may be affected by the redevelopment of the area and having one to one meetings with them over the course of the year to share the plans and address any concerns that they might have."

The plans will be discussed by Blackbird Leys Parish Council on May 30 in the community centre

The Oxbotica team with their driverless car

Driverless cars on way

By George Welch

DRIVERLESS cars will make groundbreaking journeys between Oxford and London in just two years' time.

At least, that's the hope for Summertown-based artificial intelligence firm Oxbotica, who are leading a coalition called DRIVEN that wants to trial the technology between the cities in 2019.

The consortium will address issues such as communication and data sharing between vehicles, cyber security and insurance during a 30 month project that started at the end of last month.

Dr Graeme Smith, chief executive of Oxbotica, based in Mayfield Road, hailed the scheme as "truly ground breaking".

He added: "No company, group or consortium of autonomy experts has ever attempted what we are planning over the next 30 months.

"We are seeking to address some of the most fundamental challenges preventing the future commercial deployment of fully autonomous vehicles.

"I have full confidence in DRIVEN's world leading and internationally respected team of specialists to deliver this project."

Professor Paul Newman, head of the Oxford Robotics Institute at Oxford University and one of Oxbotica's founders, said: "DRIVEN is the first of its kind and brings a host of new questions surrounding the way these vehicles will communicate with each other.

"We're moving from the singleton autonomous vehicle to fleets of autonomous vehicles – and what's interesting to us at the institute is what data the vehicles share with one another when and why."

Other members of the consortium are Oxford Robotics Institute, Oxfordshire County Council and the UK Atomic Energy Authority's RACE.

The county's role will be to support the 'connected infrastructure' capabilities of this new technology by exploring the possibility of vehicles communicating with fixed infrastructure such as traffic lights.

Llewellyn Morgan, service manager for infrastructure, innovation and development for communities at the county council, said: "The project will enhance the county council's reputation as a leader in intelligent mobility and means that we can take what we learn from this and other projects to benefit other places in Oxfordshire in the future."

Brave hearts

OXFORD People affected by heart disease will be stomping all over it with a hike from London to Oxford.

More than 350 trekkers will participate in either a 50km or 100km walk organised by the British Heart Foundation on May 13 and 14.

It will help fund the charity's research into heart disease.

Taking part this year is the runner up of Channel 4's SAS: Who Dares Wins, Charles Krarup, who is supporting the charity after he lost his father when he was only 21 from an unexpected heart attack.

More than £100,000 was raised from the challenge in 2016.

Circulatory disease is the cause of more than a quarter of all deaths in the UK.

Toys delight

OXFORD Children receiving care at the John Radcliffe Hospital had their days brightened when local food stores donated nearly £1,000 worth of brand new toys.

Eight Midcounties Co-operative Food branches across Oxfordshire raised the money by placing collection buckets in store for a two-week period.

The cash bought a variety of toys for the children to enjoy including teddy bears, Lego and books.

The John Radcliffe Hospital, in Headington, has six specialised wards providing care for children of all ages across Oxfordshire.

Scheme to speed up process of adoption has 'huge potential'

CHILDREN and adopters are set to benefit from a new plan that will speed up the adoption process and offer a better service for all.

Oxfordshire County Council is to join forces with neighbouring councils to create a regional adoption agency for the Thames Valley.

A cabinet meeting last week approved the plan, which will match children with families more quickly and improve support services.

A council spokesman said the benefits of the new model include shorter waiting times, improved support an increased ability to find adoptive families for harder-to-place children and better value for local authorities through pooling resources.

The council's deputy director for children's social care, Hannah Farncombe, suggested the scheme has huge potential.

She said: "There is strong agreement across the partnership about the benefits of working in this way and preparations are well under way to put the new arrangements in place.

"Oxfordshire has a strong track record on adoption services and we now have the opportunity to build on that as the host authority within an exciting new partnership.

"Regional agencies have great potential to drive improvements in adoption services.

"Working in partnership with neighbouring councils and voluntary agencies also enables us to share expertise, pool resources and ensure good quality and consistent support services are in place for all adopters across the region."

The government has set out plans for all adoption services to be delivered through RAAs by 2020.

Oxfordshire would be the host authority within a partnership known as Adopt Thames Valley.

The Government will provide a grant of £300,000 to help set up the new service.

Lib Dem leader heckled by voter on the campaign trail

By George Welch

LIBERAL Democrat leader Tim Farron was challenged by an EU pro leave heckler while campaigning in Kidlington on Wednesday

Mr Farron was tackled by a voter to stop telling people who voted to leave the EU that they "didn't know what they were voting for"

The heated debate took place when Mr Farron, leader of the party since July 2015, was campaigning ahead of June 8's general election.

The 46-year-old, who made multiple visits to Oxfordshire during the Witney by-election last October was speaking to the press when resident Malcolm Baker accused the MP for Westmorland and Lonsdale of "running Britain down"

Mr Baker who professes to be a lifelong Labour supporter but told the cameras he will vote Conservative next month due to what he sees as Labour s weak leadership, told Mr Farron. "You are an absolute disgrace because you keep on about those who voted leave are racist

"You keep on about, they didn't know what they were voting about. But we do though. We did know

"I voted leave and I'm proud to have voted leave and I knew what I was voting for"

Mr Farron responded by asking "Are you proud that your grandchildren will inherit a poorer, less well off country?"

Mr Baker said. "I'm proud that they'll be coming out of Europe We will have our own destiny"

Mr Farron said immediately afterwards: "That would never have happened to Theresa May because she doesn't talk to any body normal.

"God bless him."

Labour name candidate for Smith's Oxford East seat

Andrew Smith MP with candidate Anneliese Dodds

ANNELIESE Dodds has been selected to be the Labour parliamentary candidate for Oxford East following the retirement of Andrew Smith.

Ms Dodds, who lives in the constituency on the Rose Hill estate with her family, is a Labour MEP for the South East of England.

She said. "I feel so privileged to have been given this chance to do all I can to win the support of people in Oxford East

"I want to be a voice in Parliament for the people of Oxford East, so that they know they can count on Labour being on their side.

"I know that many of you [Labour supporters] would have liked to have a say on who the candidate should be, and regret that Theresa May's decision to hold a snap general election has deprived members of that choice. I am very grateful to those members who called on the NEC to select a local candidate."

Ms Dodds who started campaigning for the June 8 election on Saturday paid tribute to the outgoing Mr Smith, who announced he wasn t going to stand for election after representing Oxford East constituents since 1987

Ms Dodds said: "Andrew has been a towering presence in the Oxford Labour Party for no less than 40 years Always on the side of local people, Andrew has an immense personal following in Oxford.

"His presence in parliament has left our city and our country a more equal, fairer and more progressive place than it would be otherwise. Be cannot be replaced.

"Nonetheless, his example has and will continue to inspire me to fight for social justice in Oxford and beyond."

The Liberal Democrats have announced international concert pianist Dr Kirsten Johnson as their parliamentary candidate for Oxford East.

The Conservatives have yet to name their candidate for the seat.

Rare Chinese reptile back from the 'brink of extinction'

The endangered lizard being handled by the experts at Cotswold Wildlife Park

Park has lizard breeding licked

By Eva Astreinidou

A RARE reptile species on the brink of extinction has been successfully bred and is being hosted by Cotswold Wildlife Park.

The Chinese crocodile lizard – shinisaurus crocodilurus – is under threat as it is still widely used in traditional medicine.

Some believe it can cure insomnia since it can remain motionless for hours or sometimes even days.

The species is also threatened by habitat loss and by harvesting.

Now the reptile team at the park are the first in the UK to have successfully bred the lizard in attempts to protect it.

The curator of Cotswold Wildlife Park, Jamie Craig said: "The reptile department dedicated long periods to researching this species' needs and ensuring they were in optimum condition.

"This has now paid off with the arrival of the youngster and we hope we can now regularly repeat our success."

The baby lizard is currently off-show in the park's specialist reptile rearing room, but visitors can see the adults in their enclosure in the reptile house.

The semi-aquatic species is found only in areas of southern China and in very small numbers in northern Vietnam.

It can be seen in the ponds, shallow pools and slow flowing streams in evergreen and bamboo forests.

In 2015 China had approximately 850 crocodile lizards left in the wild, compared to an estimated 5 000 in 1991.

Vietnam's population is now believed to be fewer than 100.

While the lizard is found within protected areas in Vietnam its habitat is at risk from agricultural encroachment, illegal timber logging and water pollution.

Takeaway boss fined for putting staff at risk

THE former owner of a Chinese takeaway has been ordered to pay more than £4,600 for letting employees sleep in her premises under dangerous conditions.

Siew Ling Yap, who ran the Crispy Duck 1 Didcot, was fined for failing to provide suitable fire safety arrangements by allowing staff to sleep in a loft space near the store room at her premises at 4 Lostock Place.

They were deemed at risk of death or serious injury.

Ms Yap admitted three charges for three different offences at Banbury Magistrates' Court on April 28.

These included failure to take general fire precautions to ensure the premises were safe for employees, failure to ensure it was possible to evacuate as quickly and as safely as possible and failure to provide an adequate fire detection and alarm system.

Ms Yap was ordered to pay fines amounting to £3,000, costs totalling £1,500 plus a victim surcharge of £100.

The business has new management. Ms Yap is no longer the owner.

Award for charity helping bereaved pet owners cope

By George Welch

AN Oxfordshire organisation has been named charity of the year for helping animal lovers come to terms with the loss of their pets.

The Blue Cross Burford team has been running run a pet bereavement support and training programme for more than 20 years.

The charity aims to reduce the angst around pet loss which they say for some owners is as painful a loss as that of humans.

On receiving the award, Joanne Tarling, from the Blue Cross Burford team, said: "We're really over whelmed—it's so unexpected and absolutely brilliant. We have a fan tastic team of volunteers who keep the service going and this award is for each and every one of them."

Fellow member of the Blue Cross team Tracie McGory added: "We are a small, but dedicated, hubbly team thet genuinely care about what we do.

"Our aim is to reduce the stigma around pet loss, as for some own ers the grief that they experience is just as painful as experiencing human loss.

"Through our dedicated pro gramme not only are we are able to support these pet owners but we also train professionals to do the same so bereaved owners can receive the best care across the UK when they need it."

Particularly impressive for the independent panel of judges was the team's loyalty to the charity's roots as a society for the encour agement of kindness to animals, with the small team supporting bereaved pet owners via both a helpline and an email service that is open 365 days a year.

Petplan's head of marketing, Isa bella von Mesterhazy said. "It's a pleasure to announce our deserv ing animal charity winners this year with the calibre of finalists for the awards extremely high.

"Each and every one of the indi viduals and teams nominated are unfailingly committed to animal welfare.

"We're thrilled to take this opportunity to shine a light on their continued hard work."

Blue Cross won the accolade at the Petplan & ADCH Animal Charity Awards 2017 on Wednesday last week at Birmingham's Hilton Metropole.

This Girl Can...swim the Thames

AN Oxfordshire woman will be swimming a mile in the Thames as part of a 'This Girl Can' cam paign that aims to introduce the sport to more women.

Mother-of-two Laura Hope-Smith, 39, from Cholsey, is keen to get back into the open water that she loved as a child, after winning a national competition to participate in the Henley Mile on July 9.

She has won a free place and help and support from Henley Swim – to join hundreds of oth ers taking part.

Laura has never done any open water swimming before and will now spend the next three months training with five other women.

They will be blogging about their adventures and describing their experiences.

This is the third year that Hen ley Swim and This Girl Can have run the competition.

Swimmer Laura Hope-Smith

Previous swimmers include Alison Baker 61, who still swims outside throughout the winter, and Claire Bennett 45, who is currently training for an English Channel Relay.

Henley Swim co-founder Tom Kean said. "Once again we have been overwhelmed by the num bers of women who have entered.

"This is a hugely important and enjoyable initiative for us and each year the job of whittling down the entries to our finalist gets bigger.

"It's clear there are many differ ent motivations for all our swim mers, but what it does show is how getting outside of your comfort zone adds meaning and excite ment to life.

"Swimming is one of those rare sports that is truly gender neu tral, and with This Girl Can we hope to introduce more ladies to a sport where they can excel on a personal level.

"In 2016, there were more female swimmers than males at the Henley Mile – a statistic of which we are proud."

Fire crews damp down the blaze at the disused petrol station

Teenagers detained over blaze at garage

TWO teenagers have been arrested after a fire ripped through a derelict petrol station.

The 16 and 14-year-old boys from Carterton were held on suspicion of arson.

They have been released under investigation following the blaze in Upavon Way on Monday afternoon.

The fire service said a total of 32 calls were received about the inferno within the space of 14 minutes around 3.20pm.

Three fire crews arrived to find the petrol station engulfed in flames and the roof already collapsed.

Station manager Simon Belcher said: "Due to the proximity of houses our police colleagues advised home owners to close their doors and windows to keep the smoke out."

17 men appear in court facing child sex charges

A GANG of men has appeared in court charged with a series of child sex offences.

The 17 were arrested after police raids in Oxford and Banbury last month as part of Operation Nautical, an inquiry into child sexual exploitation.

Can you offer Trixie a new home?

By George Welch

A RECOVERING cat used as a 'breeding machine' all her life is searching for the purr fect home after her previous owner was sentenced for failing to protect 64 cats in her care

Beautiful Bengal Trixie has been patiently waiting at the RSPCA's Millbrook Animal Centre in Surrey for 458 days to find the right home

The brown-spotted 11-year old needed the charity's care after a large prosecution case and is now looking for a loving family to take care of her

Her previous owner – a Bengal breeder – had the cats including Trixie at her Oxfordshire home living in poor conditions, many of them ill with cat flu and other illnesses

RSPCA Millbrook animal care assistant Sarah Piggott said: "Trixie was pregnant when she arrived here and was cared for by one of our staff members in their own home so she could be in a quiet environment to raise her kittens.

"It's clear that Trixie's whole life has been as a breeding machine and we believe she had kittens every year since 2007.

"Thankfully she's now been spayed and can enjoy life herself for her remaining years.

"Due to the life she's had, we're looking for a very special home for her.

"She's a real character and will need a dedicated owner who can help her adjust to life as a normal, family pet."

The charity added that Trixie is still a bit unsure about being handled but has bonded well with members of staff and, with time and patience will learn to trust her new owners.

Staff would like her to go to a quiet adult only home without any other cats, although she may be able to live with a calm, cat-friendly dog.

Trixie's previous owner, from Oxfordshire, was found guilty of offences under the Animal Welfare Act of failing to protect 64 Bengal cats in her care because of a lack of appropriate and effective disease control programme.

She was sentenced to a 12-week prison sentence suspended for 12 months, 60 hours unpaid work and ordered to pay £10,000 in costs and a £115 victim surcharge.

Search begins for cat's owner after horror injury

A CAT is "lucky to be alive" after getting caught in the metal teeth of a gin trap.

The black and white cat will now have to have its leg amputated, after it was discovered with horrific injuries in Witney shortly before 8am on April 24.

A resident on Lancut Road found the cat in agony, contacted the RSPCA and took the cat to a nearby vet, where he remains on painkillers after being freed from the trap.

However the injuries were so severe that the cat, who is not microchipped, will have to have the trapped leg amputated.

Now the RSPCA is trying to find the owner.

RSPCA inspector Andy Eddy said, "This poor cat was understandably in agony when he was found. One of his front legs was still caught between the metal teeth of the trap, but his other front leg was also hurt as well. He also had blood on his mouth.

"The injuries he suffered were so severe that he will have to have the leg amputated. He is lucky to still be alive though.

"Traps like these are both cruel and indiscriminate. Once they're set, there is nothing stopping them from catching any type of animal that steps in its path, whether that is wildlife or a domestic pet."

Gin traps are mechanical traps designed to catch an animal by their leg, using spring-operated jaws with teeth or a serrated edge.

The use of gin traps has been outlawed in the UK since 1958, but some are still being illegally used to catch animals such as rabbits and foxes.

The sale or possession of such traps is not illegal, but people can face prosecution by setting a gin trap.

Making Headway in helping the recovery of brain injury patients

By George Welch

OXFORDSHIRE'S first ever state of the art voluntary sector neurological physiotherapy gym is set to open tomorrow

The ribbon will be cut and the doors will be opened to the new Headway Oxfordshire facility by the charity's president Baroness Susan Greenfield at their Kennington base

The independent charity supports those affected by brain injury across the county and the highly specialised service is one of two main beneficiaries of our charity of the year Play2Give's fundraising efforts.

P2G, a fundraising group working for the Oxford Children's Hospital as well as Headway, has helped raise funds towards both the new gym and last summer's redevelopment of the charity's activity and rehabilitation centre.

The new gym is built within that activity and rehabilitation centre where users can visit on a daily basis to socialise with others with neurological conditions have one-on one physiotherapy sessions and take part in daily activities that stimulate different areas of the brain.

The re-opening of the expanded gym will boast seven new physiotherapy exercise machines that are developed to exercise different areas in the body

Overall the gym equipment itself cost £28,000 of which P2G has raised £4,579

The new facility is considered vital by health professionals to help those affected by brain injury of which there are 4,000 new cases admitted to Oxfordshire hospitals every year

Baroness Greenfield said, "The work that Headway Oxfordshire does within the community to support the rehabilitation and social integration of those who have been affected by brain injury is of vital importance

"It is in the practical application of creative approaches to rehabilitation that we as scientists and researchers, get to see the outcomes of our work become a reality"

Andy Baker, founder of P2G, is also looking forward to the re-opening

He said, "It has been like a dream to finally see the redeveloped centre take shape as when I first came to Headway five years ago the plans were still just a vision and to be able to join in the celebrations will be really special"

Andy, 28, suffered brain injuries at birth and sustained a head injury aged eight after being knocked over in the playground at school.

He underwent brain surgery aged 12 at the Radcliffe Infirmary in Oxford and has had a five year association with Headway as he continues his rehabilitation.

P2G is aiming to raise £5,000 to mark Andy's five years at Headway and they are closing in on that target.

Bicester's buzzing to help bees with a new meadow

By Samantha McGregor

SCHOOLCHILDREN are set to create a new wildflower meadow at a popular nature reserve thanks to a grant.

Bure Park Nature Reserve, in Bicester is in line for a biodiversity boost after Cherwell District Council won a £3,379 grant from the Trust for Oxfordshire's Environment (TOE2) to pay for seeds.

The wildflower meadow will be planted on a site near Bure Park Primary School and pupils and members of Bicester Green Gym, who are based in the nature reserve will help with the seeding on May 16.

The project will focus on restoring habitats for bees, whose populations have declined sharply in recent years and on further improving the park's offering to visitors.

Karen Curtin, Cherwell's commercial director said: "Bure Park is Bicester's only nature reserve and we are delighted to have been awarded this grant, which will help us further to improve its status as a beacon of wellbeing and biodiversity.

"Bees contribute millions of pounds to the economy every year by pollinating the fruits and vegetables that end up on our plates.

"Their decline is a concern and we hope that by supporting their habitats we can help boost their local population.

"The meadow will be planted with nectar rich plants which will also attract other species such as ladybirds moths and butterflies.

"Overall, by providing a more diverse and attractive wildlife habitat, the meadow will further improve Bure Park Nature Reserve's contribution to residents' quality of life."

As it becomes established, the wildflower meadow will play host to educational activities for the community including a led nature walk on National Meadows Day on July 1.

By working closely with the school and residents, the council hopes to encourage people to plant wildflowers in their own gardens to further boost Bicester biodiversity.

Last year the nature reserve was given a £41,900 grant to pay for new signs to help people navigate it easier and make it more accessible.

The cash was donated by environmental body WREN.

The money was used to buy 17 new fingerpost style signs and five interpretation signs.

The latest grant was funded by Grundon Waste Management which supports TOE2 through the Landfill Communities Fund.

Festival gives its backing to 'life-saving' air ambulance

THE annual music festival in Thame that will feature performances from the likes of KT Tunstall and Newton Faulkner is partnering up with Thames Valley Air Ambulance for another year.

The 'five-saving' service is getting a shining endorsement from the annual Towersey Festival, which takes place from August 25 to 28 at Thame Showground and this year will feature over 100 acts across a dozen stages.

Towersey Festival director Joe Heap who visited a TVAA crew at RAF Benson, said, "We're pleased to be able to continue to support Thames Valley Air Ambulance with their life-saving work across Buckinghamshire, Oxfordshire and Berkshire."

Ruth Dunkin, senior fundraising manager for TVAA, said: "We are delighted to be supported by Towersey Festival in 2017 and have some exciting plans which will be revealed nearer the time."

Helicopters from Thames Valley Air Ambulance (TVAA) attend on average three incidents a day and the elite team on board perform procedures including inducing patients into a coma, open heart surgery and treating major traumas.

This year's festival will be hosting street theatre, workshops for all ages, real ale and cider, gourmet street food, films, spoken word, comedy and dedicated events for families over the four days.

Distinguished author inspires pupils with hilarious tales

AN award-winning author visited pupils ahead of a town's literary festival.

Celebrated children s author Tanya Landman met year eight pupils at Kingham Hill School when she dropped in as part of the Chipping Norton Literary Festival.

She told pupils "hilarious tales from her childhood and school" and described her ambitions to be an astronaut, ballerina and monkey

Ms Landman also told students about her time working at Bristol Zoo as Kevin the teddy bear, whose many adventures inspired some of her earlier children s books

But it was her collection of young adult historical fiction that pupils were most interestin.

She had based the Carnegie Medal-winning Buffalo Soldier on the real life story of freed slave Cathy Williams who disguised herself as a man and fought as a Buffalo Soldier in the US army

Donna Saxby Kingham Hill School's librarian, said. "Meeting a successful author is so inspiring for pupils it encourages them to reflect on their own stories, both real and imaginary

The Carnegie Medal is a British literary award that recognises an outstanding new book for children or young adults

Milly Weaver children's programmer for Chipping Norton Literary Festival, said. "It is always such a pleasure to bring an author into Kingham Hill, a school which obviously places a high value on reading and literacy"

Mayor opens family centre

IT has been a year in the making but Thame s new family centre has finally opened its doors.

Thame's mayor Linda Emery cut the ribbon to declare the Red Kite centre, in Southam Road, open last week.

A string of activities has been launched for children and young people aged up to 19

The centre is being run by the Sharing Life Trust, which led a bid to operate it and fundraise for the project

It faced closure as part of Oxfordshire County Council cuts to funding.

The community charity has raised cash to keep it running for the next year, including a grant of £30,000 from the county council.

John Hulett, chairman of trustees said he was "delighted" the centre had secured funds to stay open.

He said. "There were two key reasons for wanting to keep this centre open.

"Firstly the support and activities that it offers to all parents and toddlers can only really work if they are based in the local community, here in Thame and also in Chinnor

"Secondly Amy Spicer as leader of the former children's centre, is so highly respected and trusted for the work she and her team have done supporting these young families in the past that we were determined to make sure that it could continue."

Launch day was a chance for families and carers to find out more about the centre and take part in a host of activities including stories and crafts.

About 70 families and their children had the chance to meet Ms Spicer and the rest of the team, as well as a giant gecko and teddy bear organised by the regional Co-op

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

Spring into Action

Now's the perfect time to replace your garden fence once and for all Anna Ryder Richardson - Designer and Television Presenter - takes a closer look at Colourfence, the revolutionary low-maintenance system

It s been ten years once I regularly graced TV screens helping transform people s living spaces with MDF and stripped floorboards Recently it s been more "celebrity muck out" than "celebrity make-over" as I took up the challenge of owning my own Wildlife Zoo in Tenby In this time I ve learnt quite a bit about fences and having researched the various options for my own benefit I thought I would share my knowledge with a wider audience

The latest design processes mean there is now a tremendous array of fencing products for you to choose from constructed from a variety of materials Each has its own attributes, and ultimately it can often come down to a matter of personal preference. For me there was one unique system that stood out as providing the best balance between price and functionality which eradicates fencing problems for good. Or for at least 25 years Colourfence For quality value, longevity aesthetic design this fencing system ticks all the boxes Fencing made for the 21st century that will transform the look of your garden which is supplied and fitted by a company whose customer service is as good as the product.

In my view Colourfence is the Rolls Royce of fencing—just without the exclusive price tag What s more, it s guaranteed to stay in place in up to 130mph winds and is virtually maintenance free.

To find out how the experts from Colourfence might help you, I suggest you call 01865 582 171 and speak to their team

"I honestly believe that Colourfence is the best general purpose fencing product on the market today!"

Gardeners' Questions

A The Colonrfence system has been tested under cyclonic conditions to withstand storms with wind gnsts np to 130mph Unlike your wooden fence - once professionally installed - Colourfence really will stay up!

Q No matter what I treet my wooden fence with - nothing seems to prevent it rotting or looking shabby for very long.

A Treating your fence is a thankless and expensive task it s also a losing battle Wood simply want s to rot Colonrfence offers a low-maintenance alternative where by an occasional wash down will keep it looking great for np to 25 years! GUARANTEED!†

Your home is your greatest asset, and you've worked hard for it.

We know you care about the impression your home makes on your friends, your family and your neighbours, and you value quality and style.

So you need to be certain that your new driveway is designed to enhance your home, built from the finest materials and engineered to last.

Let's be honest – the driveway business doesn't enjoy the best reputation, with expensive, hard-sell national home improvement firms at one end and cheap fly-by-night operations at the other.

We think you deserve better.

So we looked closely at the problems associated with our industry and built an entirely new model.

We founded the the New Driveway Company to bring a new level of professionalism, design and customer service to the homeowners of Oxford.

Call us now and book your FREE design meeting.

A diary of different love

By Samantha McGregor

I CAPTURE the Castle, a story of first love, unrequited love and married love told in a new musical, comes to the Oxford stage.

Dodie Smith's first novel is brought to life on stage at the Oxford Playhouse from Tuesday May 16 to Saturday May 20.

Set in 1930s bohemian England, I Capture the Castle is a story about family and self-discovery.

It is about first loves, unrequited loves and married love, shaped by a delectable and uplifting score and performed by a multitalented cast.

Cassandra is 17. She is writing a diary about her eccentric family including her irritating elder sister Rose, her unconventional stepmother Topaz, her orphaned admirer Stephen and her novelist father James who hasn't written a word in years.

They are behind with the rent for the tumbledown castle that seemed so romantic when they moved in.

The roof is leaking, it never stops raining and the family is surviving on oatcakes and eggs.

But the new landlord is a wealthy young American, with an attractive younger brother, and spring is in the air. Perhaps things are about to change.

Luke Dale, Shona White and Julia St John in I Capture the Castle Picture: Richard Lakos

With script and lyrics by Teresa Howard, music by Steven Edis and direction by Brigid Larmour, this period musical encapsulates the spirit of this coming of age novel.

I Capture the Castle was made into a film in 2003 starring Romola Garai, Bill Nighy, Rose Byrne and Tara Fitzgerald.

British author Smith wrote the novel during the Second World War while she was living in California with her husband. She was also a playwright and later penned the classic A Hundred and One Dalmatians.

Tickets for I Capture the Castle at Oxford Playhouse start at £11.50 and are available from the box office on 01865 305305 or via oxfordplayhouse.com

Now is the time to foster… now is the time to care.

The pressure to recruit new foster carers is ongoing. Nationally fostering services have seen a rise in the number of children and young people needing foster care.

Locally in Oxfordshire we have seen the number of looked after children increase to over 650. We need to recruit more foster carers to keep up with the continuous demands and we need YOUR help.

There are children from many different backgrounds needing to be fostered, what is important is that you can meet the needs of the child. The children vary in age from babies to teenagers and may stay with you for a few days or even years. Foster carers give them safe and caring home during this time.

Teenagers – over 50 percent of children in care in Oxfordshire are 10 years and over with teenage placements being a priority for recruitment.

So we are looking for people who are interested in caring for these vulnerable young people when they need it most.

Children need to be fostered in a range of different placements depending on their situation. We provide types of fostering that best suits the children and the carer.

Why don't you find out more about the fostering opportunities that could fit in your life?

Come along to find out more and meet the team on Wednesday 10th May from 6.30 to 8.00pm at Nash Court, 4440 John Smith Drive, Oxford Business Park, Cowley, Oxford OX4 2RU.

Sisters show is a class act

By Samantha McGregor

THE hit musical comedy Sister Act is coming to Oxford this month as part of a nationwide tour.

This new production has been directed and choreographed by Craig Revel Horwood, best known as a judge on BBC One's Strictly Come Dancing, and stars Alexandra Burke as Deloris Van Cartier.

The musical takes to the stage at Oxford's New Theatre from Monday May 15 to Saturday, May 20.

Joining Burke is Joanna Francis as Michelle, Joe Vetch as Eddie, Karen Mann as Mother Superior and Lix Kitchen as Sister Mary Lazarus.

Based on the smash hit movie starring Whoopi Goldberg and Maggie Smith, Sister Act tells the hilarious story of Deloris Van Cartier, a disco diva whose life takes a surprising turn when she witnesses a murder.

Under protective custody she is hidden in the one place she won't be found – a convent.

Disguised as a nun and under the suspicious watch of Mother Superior, Deloris helps her fellow sisters find their voices as she unexpectedly rediscovers her own.

Burke recently played Rachel Marron in the national tour of 'The Bodyguard', a part she also played in the West End.

She originally rose to fame after winning the fifth series of The X Factor. Her debut number one single 'Hallelujah' sold over one million copies in the UK.

Joanna Francis has recently finished performing in the West End production of The Lion King.

And audiences watching Sister Act can keep the good times rolling at a post-show party on May 19, in the theatre's Piano Bar which will feature live music from the LDN Party Band.

The band, which features five members of the smash hit musical company including Vetch, who plays Eddie, is an R&B/Soul septet with a broad repertoire of lively covers ranging from the 1960s to today.

News of another election should not derail any upcoming property plans

In 2015 we had the general election A little over a year later we were back at the polls for the EU referendum And just five weeks ago Article 50 was triggered setting us on the path to leave the EU So that s us done with political uncertainty right?

Wrong – well at least, not necessarily

Just two weeks ago and seemingly out of the blue Theresa May announced that there would be a snap general election on June 8 However whilst this undoubtedly came as a surprise we must not let it destabilise the property market

Yes, elections can lead to uncertainty and that can affect confidence but let us not lose sight of how the property market works It is driven by demand and that currently remains extremely high due to a lack of supply in the market.

There are also the nuances of this particular election to consider Simply the Conservative government hopes to secure a stronger working majority in June This would reduce its reliance on the eurosceptics within the party and allow the party to deliver a softer Brexit, which is likely to be welcomed by the economy system

So in fact so far the situation appears decidedly more positive than you may have thought it would be

In fact, properties coming on to the market over the last few months have tended to sell quickly and in many instances for more than they've been marketed at.

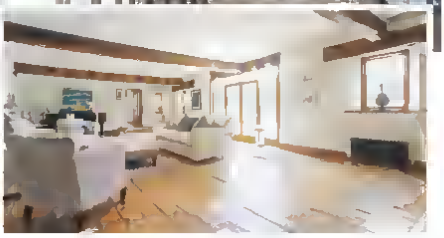
This means that if you've considered a sale and have an eye for showing off your property in its way best light, now could in fact prove to be a great time to sell your property This does, however, come with a word of caution – but not one in any way linked to the impending election.

Market conditions as we've acknowledged above are currently as they are due to a lack of supply in the market. There simply aren't enough properties coming on to the market so don't wait until you've found the home of your dreams before deciding to sell yours Demand is such that you're likely to miss the boat by taking this approach

Andrews prides itself on taking a consultation, not valuation, approach towards those considering a house sale so if you're wondering whether now is a good time to market your property why not drop in to your local Andrews branch there are five across Oxfordshire – where the team will advise you on the likely value of your home the local market conditions and how you can best present it to achieve a sale at the price you want.

You can also visit our website for a wide range of advice and guidance on the house selling process andrews-online.co.uk.

Stunning five-bed barn with big garden now on sale



• From front page

Steps lead up to the triple aspect sitting room with wood burning stove polished floor and doors to the garden.

The kitchen/breakfast room has a wall of windows and doors to the terrace There is a range of "unfitted" solid wood painted wall and floor cabinets a range cooker fridge and freezer and dishwasher and plenty of room for a central table

The well fitted utility room has plumbing for washing machine and tumble dryer and there is a cloakroom

At the end of the building is the family room currently used as a spacious study with a wall of windows and doors to the terrace. There is also access to the triple garage

Stairs lead to two bedrooms one with en-suite bathroom and a further bathroom. Planning has been granted to create one large master bedroom with walk-in wardrobe and en-suite bathroom with the addition of dormer windows From the reception hall stairs lead to three further double bedrooms one with luxury en-suite shower room and a family bathroom

From the lane double electric gates lead to the large gravelled driveway and up to the triple garage The traditional walled barnyard enclosure gives a fine backdrop to raised beds planted with perennial cottage plants and climbers. There is a sheltered kitchen garden and a brick garden outbuilding One hall has been converted to a gym or home office.

The magnificent white marble terrace inset with outdoor lighting wraps around the house doors open from all principal ground floor rooms onto the terrace making it ideal for entertaining

There is a large area of lawn bushes and shrubs give privacy and seclusion and a secret sunken garden is a fine sun trap The entire garden amounts to one third of an acre.

Homes can command an extra £50,000

Parents looking to buy a property close to a primary school rated as outstanding by Ofsted face paying a premium of more than £50 000

New figures from Rightmove show the average asking price of homes in the successful admission zone of high performing Grade 1 schools is £52,372 or 18 per cent higher than in areas around Grade 3 institutions.

There is also a 12 per cent (average of £37 000) hike in prices between properties near mid-range Grade 2 schools and those in Grade 1

Kevin Shaw national sales director at property specialist Leaders says. "With 86 per cent of outstanding primary schools already oversubscribed living in an area with the best chance of being accepted by one has become a priority for many parents

"Living close to the right school has long been an important factor for home hunters but the latest figures suggest people are now willing to pay even more for the privilege Indeed many movers admit to compromising on other issues in order to live close to a school above all else

"Buyers should remember that some of the top schools have a very small successful admission area — sometimes measured in metres – so they should always check whether a property was in this area in the last academic year before completing a purchase."

Parents in the West Midlands face paying the largest premium to live near a Grade 1 school with a mark-up of 32 per cent in comparison with properties close to Grade 3 schools It was followed by the north west (27 per cent) and Yorkshire and Humber (22 per cent) The smallest premiums were found in the East Midlands, north east and London (all 13 per cent).

Kevin adds "With incredible demand for properties close to the best schools and an overall lack of supply in the market also helping to push up prices those who live within a successful admission zone may wish to consider the benefits of selling – particularly if they no longer have children of a school age

"Many are likely to be surprised by just how much their home is now worth and how high demand from parents can help them to get a great price"

Its official. Hearing aids can do more than improve your hearing.

Following a survey carried out in 2015 by Anovum (a market research company) on 1325 hearing impaired people (605 hearing aid wearers and 720 not wearing hearing aids) The survey reports that hearing aids not only improve capabilities of hearing well but also improved the general health of hearing aid wearers compared to hearing impaired people who do not wear a hearing aid. Hearing aid users are less likely to think they have the symptoms of dementia, feel less physically and mentally exhausted, sleep better and are less likely to suffer from depression

The survey confirms what some Audiologists have suspected for some time, that hearing aids are not only good for correcting hearing loss but in fact contribute to better and more active lives, better quality of life, and better overall health

For the hearing impaired workers who wear a hearing aid it is reported that their hearing aids are useful for their job and that the hearing aids also increase the chance of them getting promoted, being in the right job and getting more salary compared to those hearing impaired people who have not obtained hearing aids

The full report can be found at EuroTrak UK 2015 – ehima

A new hearing system is just the beginning and a hearing aid system is only as good as the audiologist prescribing and programming it.

At Keith Donaghy Hearingcare we offer the best bespoke hearing aid systems virtually unnoticeable fitting comfortably into your ear

Keith will help you every step of the way whilst you adjust to your new hearing ability, for some this takes months for others a matter of a few weeks but Keith is always on hand to answer questions or give advice on getting the best from your system The last thing he wants (as is often the case when insufficient aftercare is available) is for your hearing aids to end up in the back of a drawer somewhere, unused because you felt that nothing else could be done to rectify any programming or rehabilitation problems

Keith wants to know if you have any concerns about your hearing aids, no matter how big or small, so that you and he can work together to achieve the best results

Come and visit us at one of our open days in Witney on the 18th May or Banbury on the 19th May and find the answers to any questions that you may have.

From Genesis to next generation

By Samantha McGregor

IN 1973 John Lennon talked about his support of up-and coming band Genesis – four decades later it's still a career highlight for guitarist Steve Hackett.

And later this month Hackett and his band will perform some of those glorious tunes to fans at the New Theatre.

It also marks the 40th anniversary of the release of the last Genesis album Hackett worked on – Wind and Wuthering – before he left for a successful solo career.

The show features a string of Genesis gems including favourites such as The Musical Box, Inside & Out and One for the Vine.

It will also include plenty of classic Hackett from his solo catalogue including popular tunes such as The Steppes Serpentine Every Day and the first ever live performance of Rise Again from his 1999 album Darktown.

Steve will also be introducing fans to music from his new studio album The Night Siren.

With a tour of Europe and the USA under his belt, he is back in the UK for the second leg.

Before heading to Belfast he took time out to talk to the Oxfordshire Guardian.

Asked what fans could expect Steve said: "It's been an extraordinary journey – the last album I did with Genesis was 40 years ago – Wind and Wuthering – and we are celebrating that album. It's one of my favourite albums.

"The show is half solo and half Genesis – I want to give people everything.

"I have to say the sound is better than ever – the technology allows us to do it better."

He is working with band Kajagoogoo.

Recalling his time with Genesis he said: "When we started out the band was doing free concerts and we hadn't done anything in the USA, and hadn't been to Europe.

"I saw the growth to playing to 80,000 people in London. The band superseded all expectations.

"Eventually I felt the need to work with other people there was no disagreement about music, I felt I must have autonomy."

He went on to have a successful solo career as well as work with greats such as Randy Crawford Richie Havens and more recently Nick Beggs, formerly of 1980s band Kajagoogoo.

But he told the Guardian: "In 1973 John Lennon said we were one of the bands he was listening to at the time when we could barely get a gig on the US. I'm very proud of that."

Catch Steve Hackett and his band at Oxford's New Theatre on Saturday, May 13.

A show of hands for singer Miranda

MIRANDA Sykes the acclaimed singer and bassist with 'Show of Hands is returning to her roots.

After a career spanning over 20 years during which time she has played with many of the top musicians and singers within the folk world she will be touring as she started out, one woman one bass, and one guitar.

Later this month she will perform at St Mary's Church Garsington, Oxfordshire, on Friday, May 19.

Her show will feature songs from her debut solo album Borrowed Places in which she has drawn inspiration primarily from the songs and landscape of her native Lincolnshire but seen through the eyes of someone who has lived away for many years.

Talking about the new album Miranda said: "The themes are not specific the land changes it grows it shrinks, it adapts and it resists but most of all it lives and breathes."

The album was released on May 1, alongside a UK tour to promote it.

For more information go to mirandasykes.com or for tickets for the Garsington gig call 01865 366262.

Audi A5 3.0 TDI Quattro S Line - S tronic (218PS)

The A5 is AI for the modern driver

By Tony Yates

Power and efficiency

The A5 I had on test was powered by a 218PS 3.0 litre V6 turbocharged diesel engine which produces sharp responsiveness with the added bonus of 400Nm of torque and easily manages to complete the 0-62 mph sprint in just 6.2 seconds, yet returned a combined 57.1 mpg - which you have to admit is pretty good for a V6. I am also going to be bold here and say that the 3.0 V6 is a brilliant engine and Audi have done a fantastic job of wringing out every last bit of horsepower.

On the road

As you would expect the A5 handling is poised thanks to Audi's engineers setting up the suspension with perfect precision, although the ride can be quite harsh, especially for those of you who wanted a softer approach. If you do decide to engage WARP drive and stick it into the corners - you will safely come out the other side still pointing in the same direction - mainly due to the fact that it has Audi's brilliant Quattro permanent all-wheel drive system fitted which happens to have a self locking centre differential and Torque Vectoring - along with a whole host of safety features such as ABS, EBD and a dual circuit breaking system.

Equipment, safety and technology

As you would expect from Audi, the cabin materials are exceptional quality and this runs right though the veins of the A5. There is even more good news - because gone are the days of the normal dull plastics that you expect from the Audi designers. Overall then the quality and feel inside are excellent, with all the dials and switches set out in such a way that the driver will always have finger tip control with minimal effort.

There's also plenty of standard kit like Air-con, cruise control, dual zone climate control, automatic wipers, Bluetooth handsfree, reversing sensors, tyre pressure monitoring and a leather steering wheel. Plus, thanks to the all-new operating and display concept, including free-text search, the driver can control all functions effortlessly and intuitively. As an alternative to the standard-fit analog instrument dials, there is the Audi virtual cockpit (option) which you can customise just by pressing the "view" button on the multi function steering wheel. Choose the classic view with prominent speedometer and revcounter or the infotainment view which brings functions such as the navigation map or media to the fore - with crisp 3D graphics and highly detailed effects.

There are also an abundance of driver assistance systems that cover a wide range of functions in the A5 all combining an intelligent combination of different technologies to enhance safety, comfort and efficiency.

To sum up:

I like the Audi A5 a lot - thanks mainly to how it makes you feel when you drive it. I am not sure it could get any better really. Once again Audi have proved why the A5 is a car that ticks all the boxes for the modern driver.

Price from: £40,690

Can it get any better than the Audi A5?

Romain Grosjean diving up the inside of Jolyon Palmer just before the two collided Picture: Haas F1

Drivers blame each other over opening lap collision

F1

By Adam Flinn

ROMAIN Grosjean and Jolyon Palmer have blamed each other for the crash that took both drivers out at the start of the Russian Grand Prix in Sochi on Sunday

The pair – racing for Oxfordshire-based teams Haas and Renault respectively – were trying to make up ground on the opening lap when the collision happened at turn two

Grosjean spotted a gap and lunged his Haas up the inside of Palmer, expecting the Renault driver to leave him some space

But Palmer turned in and the two cars ended up in the wall, ending both their races on the spot

Unsurprisingly both drivers had a different take on the crash with Grosjean saying Palmer didn't leave him any room and Palmer arguing that he himself was being squeezed by a car on his other side

Palmer said "I had a decent enough start then heading down to turn two there was a Sauber on my outside when Romain made a very ambitious move over the kerbs on the inside from behind.

"There was no space for me to go because of the Sauber so maybe Romain wasn't aware of that but he kept it in, hit me, then we were both out of the race

"That was a shame for both of us really I feel for my crew this week end as they've worked so hard on the car then we had such a short race "

It concluded a bad weekend for both drivers, after Palmer crashed out of qualifying and Grosjean set the slowest time of the day on Saturday

Grosjean said, "We had a great start and I was on the inside of Palmer under braking

"I don t know why he turned in, I was there and then he turned in I tried to get as much as I could on the apex but he just hit me spun and came back and hit me again.

"I was full of hope that we could understand what was going on over the weekend get some more mileage and understand things so we can perform at the next race

"Though we were maybe not going to score points it s always good to be able to see what we could do "

Felipe deflated after puncture

F1

A SLOW puncture cost Williams and Felipe Massa a deserved haul of points as he dropped from sixth to ninth at Sunday's Russian Grand Prix

Massa looked set for another strong sixth place finish but had to make a second pitstop towards the end, meaning he went from scoring eight points to picking up just two.

This also put him a lap down on the leaders at the end, with Sebastian Vettel signalling his frustration at Massa as he felt he was held up while trying to lap him when chasing down eventual race winner Valtteri Bottas

Massa said, "I'm disappointed, we were just unlucky with the tyres

"I was really taking care of the car and the tyres, keeping the gaps in the right place, and we had a sixth position in our pocket.

"It is unfortunate and painful for the team that we have lost good points but we can't do anything about it."

Smith 'loving the challenge'

MotoGP

BRADLEY Smith is loving "the whole challenge" with his new Red Bull KTM team ahead of the fourth MotoGP race of the season in Spain.

The Forest Hill racer was left frustrated and disappointed last time out in Texas after just missing out on scoring a point

Pull&Bear Aspar Team rider Alvaro Bautista finished 15 543 seconds ahead of the 26 year old but he is remaining upbeat and relishing the challenge ahead of this week s race at Jerez.

"Fighting for a single world championship point may be something that I'm not used to but I honestly love the whole challenge with a new MotoGP team," Smith said.

"I've been sixth in the MotoGP world championship and stood on a MotoGP podium but I'm getting more fulfilment from what I m doing this season than any of those special moments

"The guys in the team have been amazing and work so hard," he said.

"They have introduced little changes throughout the three week ends to give us the best and we have always been competitive

"It is just a constant evolution of progression and it s a road, as we have already seen, that will have its ups and downs."

KTM are hoping to have a new engine configuration in place for the Spanish Grand Prix this weekend.

Incredible 'Hulk' in best result of the year

F1

NICO Hulkenberg scored Renault's best result of the season so far as he finished eighth at Sochi on Sunday

The German ran a different strategy to everyone else, keeping his ultra soft tyres until lap 40 before stopping – around 20 laps longer than the majority of the grid. It was hoped this would give him better grip over Esteban Ocon in seventh at the end to be able to get past on a newer set of super soft tyres

But he ended up finishing a second adrift of the Force India

Hulkenberg said, "I lost track position at the start so we let everyone else pit ahead of us and went as long as we could go on the first set of beats.

"I kept pushing and the car performed really well, staying switched on with the track improvement meaning I was able to get faster and faster.

"I was definitely happier with our race pace. We've still got more work to do but we've clearly taken a step in the right direction this weekend."

Elsewhere, Kevin Magnussen had a disappointing afternoon as he could only bring his Haas home in 13th.

He had managed to get into the top 10 but a five-second penalty for exceeding track limits on the first lap pushed him back down the order

Magnussen said, "It s been a bit of an off weekend for us but we've learned from it "

Blues eye Canada tonic after cup disappointment

Rugby League

OXFORD RL lost their first ever semi final as they crashed out of the Kingstone Press League 1 Cup on Sunday

The Blues fine run in the competition came to an end when they lost 64-14 at Barrow Raiders, despite a fantastic first half from the visitors

The Raiders took the lead early on through Ryan Fieldhouse

Oxford stood toe to toe with their hosts and responded to two Shane Toal tries and a Brad Brennan score with three first half tries of their own through Casey Canterbury, Jordan Gill and Scott Fleming

Despite a great first half from the Blues to go in just six points behind at 20 14 Barrow's quality and experience blitzed the second half.

Tom Walker, James Duerden and Dan Abrams bundled over to make Barrow's lead comprehensive

Lewis Charnock (twice) Joe Hullock (twice) and Toal (his hat-trick) crossed as the Raiders blasted their way out of Oxford s sight

But disappointment quickly turned to excitement for Oxford's players as they embark on their long awaited transatlantic adventure

The Blues are the first team to play away at Toronto Wolfpack, who this year are playing in the English domestic rugby league.

Hoops sunk by Fleet

Oxford City

HEADS were held high after Oxford City put in a spirited performance in the last game of the season against a team gunning for the National League South title.

The Hoops knew it wasn't going to be a relaxed season finale in front of a bumper Ebbsfleet United crowd with the Kent side ready to snatch the title should leaders Maidenhead slip up – they didn't.

Despite a strong second half showing from City, winger Anthony Cook's early strike was enough to see the Fleet home in a game where both goalkeepers were kept busy.

Although Kamran Andersen saw an early shot deflected behind for a corner for the visitors, Ebbsfleet found the net with a fifth minute strike to settle any home nerves as Cook calmly stroked the ball past Craig Hill.

The goal proved to be the winner but City gave it a go and presented a good account of themselves.

Oxford boss Mark Jones was full of praise for his players.

He said: "I was proud of the players' performance and the way they went about it.

"The players' attitudes were good. We played some good football, particularly in the second half where I felt we got on top and maybe on another day we would have got a draw.

"We're not celebrating a 1-0 defeat but we certainly came off of the pitch knowing that we had given a good performance.

"Our lads were a credit to the club. After the game a few of their people said we perhaps deserved more and we were one of the better sides they had played this season which gives us a lot of encouragement."

When Jones took charge in December, the Hoops were struggling for form and were languishing 17th in the National League South six points above the relegation zone.

But 21 games and nine wins later City finished the season in the comfort of mid-table security.

Jones added, "The players have done very well during the second half of the season we're pleased with how we've come on and now we need to take all of those positives and look at how we can improve and move forwards again."

City finished 14th while Fleet will have to contest the play-offs after finishing second on 86 points.

U's are excellent for families

OXFORD United have been awarded the EFL Family Excellence Award for the 2016/17 season.

Created in 2007, the EFL Family Excellence Award has been presented to the club for the match day experience it provides to young fans and families.

Now in their 10th anniversary more and more young people have made their way through the turnstiles in the EFL, with junior season ticket sales having increased by 37 per cent since 2007.

Such evidence is a strong indication of a healthy future for football in this country, according to EFL chief executive Shaun Harvey.

He said: "The EFL Family Excellence Awards have proven to be a fantastic vehicle for celebrating and highlighting the excellent progress that clubs are making in providing families with improved match day experiences.

"Now in their 10th year, the awards have made a significant impact and this year's winners have once again shown how innovative thinking and a strong commitment can enhance the experience for both home and away.

"I wish to congratulate each and every club who has been recognised for playing their part in continuing to attract a growing number of younger fans to the game in what is undoubtedly a valuable indication of a bright and healthy future for the EFL."

The U's have secured the award in every year they have been eligible to receive it.

The award recipients are decided using independent assessments from families who make match day visits across all 72 league clubs, during the 2016/17 season.

Cup glory concludes successful season

Ardley United

THE champagne was flowing after Ardley United rounded off their season in style as they won the Uhlsport Hellenic League Supplementary Cup with a 2-0 victory over Tuffley Rovers.

Leam Howards was the goalscoring hero on Saturday as his two fine strikes just before the interval settled the final at Wantage's Alfredian Park.

These teams know each other well, for the cup final clash was the fifth meeting between the Hellenic Premier League sides this season, and the latest win reaffirmed the north Oxfordshire side's superiority with their fourth victory.

Ardley boss Paul Davis admitted his side were slow out the blocks, but it mattered little when Howards struck twice on the cusp of half time to dramatically change both manager's team talks.

The striker bagged his first two minutes before the break when he latched onto a through ball from Cari Tappin to shoot first time on the edge of the box over the advancing keeper and into the net.

A minute into added time and it was game over when Jack Ross played in goal hungry Howards who fired across the keeper into the bottom corner.

The second half increased in tempo and tempers flared as both teams finished the contest a man light.

Tuffley's Liam Wright was sent for an early shower as Rovers' hopes of glory disappeared down the drain following a lunge on Luke Cray on 53 minutes.

And United's Joel Meade received his second yellow of the afternoon late on for a push with three minutes remaining – but it didn't impact the outcome.

A jubilant Davis said, "I am delighted to finish the season with a trophy – it's a nice end for the players, staff and everyone connected to the club at the end of a long season."

Ardley skipper Luke Cray added, "It's nice to finish the season with a cup win, we were disappointed not to reach the final of the Floodlit Cup [after a semi final defeat] when our ambition was to finish fifth and win a cup, but we've done it now so it's smiles all round.

"I feel it's been a successful season overall."

United women extend winless season

OUFCW

OXFORD United Women remain rooted to the bottom of the table as they extended their winless campaign with a 2-1 defeat to Watford Ladies in their first home game since March.

The U's threw away an early lead at the Northcourt in Abingdon to record an unwanted sixth loss in eight Spring Series matches.

With only two points on the board and four points behind the team above them with a single game remaining, United are certain to finish rock bottom.

But in Sunday's game, after a nervy opening five minutes, the Yellows found their footing and controlled the early exchanges. And a first win of the campaign was on the cards when an unmarked Ellie Noble headed the ball over the onrushing goalkeeper and into the net from a seventh minute free kick.

Watford wrestled back control of the ball and were back on level terms mid way through the first half.

A Hornets free kick of their own was flicked on by Ronsola Babajide to Charlotte Kerr who prodded home off the bar from two yards out.

Oxford defenders Riva Casley, Rosie Lane, Jess Frampton and Evie Gane were put under the cosh by Babajide and fellow forwards Leah Cudone and Kerr as the half turned scrappy.

The second half started with a golden opportunity for Oxford's Lauren Alkinson, but the striker squandered a one-on-one with goalkeeper Jo Fletcher as her attempted chip went inches over.

But the winner arrived with 13 minutes to go when terrific wing play by Babajide put the ball on a plate for Kerr to flick in her second.

Oxford threw everything at their opponents in the last 10 minutes and both Frampton and Emily Donovan had long-range shots saved.

At the other end of the pitch, Demi Lambourne made three brilliant saves to give her team a chance of coming away with something.

But it wasn't to be and boss Andy Cook's search for a win will continue in the season finale at home against Doncaster Rovers Belles on May 21.

Forward chalks up United's 100th goal of the season

By George Welch

OXFORD United chalked up a century of goals for the season in a 2-0 win against Shrewsbury Town on Sunday

Forward Rob Hall scored United's 100th of the campaign as the curtain came down on a memorable year at the Kassam.

The Yellows' 62nd game of a hectic year was decided by two early goals from centre back Curtis Nelson and Hall within 20 minutes.

United secured an eighth-place finish in the first SkyBet League One campaign in 15 years for Michael Appleton's side

Oxford lost both full backs to injuries in the first 13 minutes. Joe Skarz broke his nose and Christian Ribeiro finally making his home debut after an injury hit season – pulled a hamstring.

But the U's – donning their 2017/18 home strip – struck three minutes later from an unlikely source.

A neat back heel from Marvin Johnson, who was playing upfront again, set the free-flowing U's on their way when he found Hall who, in turn, rolled the ball to Nelson

The 23-year old roared forward with purpose to lash the ball past a stranded Jayson Leutwiler

A minute later it was game over

Chris Maguire – who finished the season with a career best of 17 goals – was offered the freedom of the Kassam by the static Shrews defence.

His low delivery across the six yard box was perfect for the onrushing Hall who got across his man to force the ball home for United's 100th goal. Shrewsbury who were safe from relegation barring something extraordinary found hitting the back of the net a little more problematic although Bryn Morris went close with a header from close range in the first half.

Abu Ogogu and Stefan Payne went close soon after the restart in a frustrating afternoon for the visiting Shrews, who eventually escaped the drop by two points.

Maguire who is out of contract in the summer and could have played his last game for the club received a standing ovation when withdrawn with 15 minutes to go

His replacement Kane Hemmings then scuffed his left footed effort harmlessly wide in stoppage time

Goalkeeper Simon Eastwood, who collected two prizes at the end of season awards, played every minute of United's season and Sunday's clean sheet was his 21st of the campaign.

United finished in their highest position since 1999 – a frustrating four points off the play-offs

Elsewhere, Bolton will join champions Sheffield United in the Championship after beating Peterborough United to secure second spot.

Scunthorpe United, Fleetwood Town, Bradford City and Millwall will contest the play-offs while, at the other end, a draw wasn't enough for Port Vale who will join already-relegated Swindon Town, Coventry City and Chesterfield in League Two next year
